Amy,

Jordan asked that I respond to your message below.

We understand from your message below that responsive, non-privileged documents remain unproduced. But, Mr. Levandowski was ordered to produce these documents at his deposition on Friday April 14th as the Court ordered on April 12th. His continued failure to comply with the subpoena and Court Order is highly prejudicial. Please advise when you are available to meet and confer today or tomorrow. When we confer, please be prepared to discuss the specific issues below:

- The process Mr. Levandowski and his counsel used to search for responsive documents, including the sources searched and any search terms used
- The volume of documents searched thus far
- The volume of documents remaining to be searched
- The approximate volume of documents you expect to produce
- The timeline for completing the production

We reserve all rights.

Jordan -

My apologies on the delay in the production getting to you. Apparently FedEx had a delivery issue (see tracking screen shot below the text of this email). We will plan to send you any future productions electronically in order to avoid delays going forward.

We are still in the process of reviewing Mr. Levandowski's documents. We plan to produce all additional documents that are responsive and not privileged under the Fifth Amendment or otherwise. We are moving as quickly as we possibly can in reviewing all potentially responsive documents.

I understand that FedEx had a delivery issue. I can look into that and provide you more detail. I'm in a meeting off-site until the end of the day. I'll look into your questions when I return and get back to you.

Amy, we finally received the documents that were referenced in your emailed letter from April 19. As discussed below, we requested an electronic copy of these documents when we didn't receive them the day after your emailed letter. We did not hear back. In fact, we only received these documents this morning after I called your firm to request them a second time. The Court ordered Mr. Levandowski to produce documents at his deposition, not after. Please explain Mr. Levandowski's violation of the Court's Order in this respect. As part of this explanation, please identify whether Mr. Levandowski intends to produce further documents, and if so when. Additionally, please explain the process that Mr. Levandowski and his counsel used to search for responsive documents, including the sources searched and any search terms used. Looking at LEV_000162, there appears to be a second document production number indicating upwards of 3.2 million pages of documents (3,272,370, to be exact). Is counsel for Mr. Levandowski in possession of millions of pages of documents from him and what percentage of those pages is Mr. Levandowski withholding under claims of privilege?

We reserve all rights regarding Mr. Levandowski's violations of the Court's Orders.
